"A story in which native humor reigns,
'Tis often useful, always entertaining."

Two Mexican bandits, who certainly come under the head of "native humor," are killed in true movie form, at the hacienda. That is useful and always entertaining.

Senator Tom Heflin, who is generally more entertaining than useful, tells a story in which native humor reigns, but he loses his lines.

Indiana leaves Mr. Hoover in the position in which William H. Seward found himself in the Chicago convention of 1860—all pepped up he entered the Wigwam with more votes than anybody and his speech of acceptance in his pocket, but his nomination being deemed inexpedient, old Abe Lincoln walked off with the prize. And the Republican party didn't know as much politics then as it has learned since.

Mr. Hoover, in a postscript, promises the California State Society the use of the White House for its banquet next year. We'd like to stand in line that with Al.

Hoover's early Indiana lead is cut down by Jim Watson's postscript vote.

Another dead bandit is found in Chicago. That is indeed a joke.

Society note: Bucky Harris' Nats break into the 400.

Great Britain applies a swift kick in the slats to Prince Carol to the tune of "here's your hat, what's your hurry."

"The last thing I remember when the ambulance came round,
Was flying through the window and er-bouncin' on the ground."

Bishop Shahan lays the foundation for a school for backward children in "one of the most remote and forsaken" regions in Washington. Cheer up—the reallors will move it "down town" before the first class graduates.

The House accepts the President's suggestions as to the flood control bill. As Davy Crockett's 'coon remarked, "don't shoot, I am coming down."

It is understood that at 2 a. m. Jim Watson will furnish the cigars for the next "smoke-filled hotel room."

Conferees on the District bill have returned from a ten-day vacation and will try to resume business at the old stand. Gentlemen who realize that 50-50 is the very essence of the American spirit of fair play shouldn't have much difficulty in agreeing on 60-40.

Speaking of Davy Crockett's 'coon Chairman Parker of the United States Chamber of Commerce advises "big business" to clean house before Uncle Sam calls around with a bucket and mop.

Gov. Ritchie views the Presidency on the basis of small favors gratefully received, large ones in proportion. Blessed be those who expect nothing, for when they get it they won't be disappointed.

The war between Japan and China gives the League of Nations lots of time to pour tea.

The Senate oil committee goes up Salt Creek.

The Rumanian farm bloc decides to embarrass the government, but a glance at its program indicates that it's a mere novice.

European automobile industries are planning a tariff blockade against American cars. It is astonishing how quickly Yankee ideas are copied abroad.

For goodness sake, isn't Col. William Cooper Proctor's checkbook showing any interest whatever in this pre-convention campaign?

Japan adopts a vigorous Nica-tagan policy at Shantung.

Congressional leaders have about decided that they can get the worst of the legislation passed in time to permit of adjournment by May 26.

The Indiana returns are being rapidly rushed by tortoiseback.

Serious accident occurs at one of the South Carolina county conventions—a rural delegate chokes trying to pronounce the name of Al Smith.

The Senatorial investigators unearth another campaign fund of $2.65. A Scotchman could run this year.

The jurors trying Mrs. Florence Knapp on a charge of grand larceny fail to reach an agreement and the State must try her all over again. It is understood that the World attributes this fiasco to resentment growing out of the fact that the people of New York do not have the vote.

Artillery Blows Up Southern Army Munition Dump and Tsinan Barracks.

The following were the developments in the China-Japanese trouble in Shantung yesterday: Heavy fighting started at 8 o'clock in the morning between Chinese and Japanese along the Shantung railroad.

Japan rushing 20,000 more troops into the fighting area. Japan issued an ultimatum to the Nationalist government demanding, among other things, that the Chinese withdraw seven miles from each side of the Shantung railroad.

The Chinese refused to accept the ultimatum, whereupon it is reported the Japanese opened fire.

Ambassador Matsudaira conferred with Secretary of State Kellogg presumably to give him a complete account of Japan's position.

RECTOR, CONDUCTING FUNERAL RITES, DIES

Chicago, May 8 (A.P.).—The Rev. J. M. Stone, rector emeritus of St. James Episcopal Church, died today while conducting a funeral in Evanston.

Dr. Stone, who was 76 years old, had just finished reading the burial service for Mrs. George C. Dent, wife of the secretary of the Industrial Engineering Co. here, when he passed his hand over his face and asked for a chair. He died less than five minutes later.

BARON LEFT WAITING AT ALTAR BY ACTRESS

Winifred Barry Jilts Italian on Learning That He Offered Title for Sale.

New York, May 8 (A.P.).—Baron Giorgio Mario Surlini, of Italy, who obtained a license to marry Miss Winifred Barry, 21-year-old actress, was left waiting at the church today.

"No, I certainly will not marry him," said Miss Barry, as she remained away from the Little Church Around the Corner. "Not only did I not know he had advertised his title for sale at $100,000, but I learned this morning after I got over the shock of seeing about him in the newspapers, that he had been engaged to another woman for the last year. Well, she can have him. I don't want him. Anybody can have him."

The baron a year ago offered his title for sale in marriage, but he said he found no satisfactory takers. "I'm not willing to take a chance with one of these rich widows," he said, "for these old women live forever. Now I'm getting very wise in regard to titles; it is not like it was once. A title is not the investment it once was in America."

BUCHAREST GOVERNMENT BOYCOTTED BY PEASANTS

Maniu Apparently to Deal Only Through His Party's Secretariat.

CAROL PLANS AN APPEAL

Bucharest, Roumania, May 8 (A.P.).—The failure of Julius Maniu to present the ultimatum of the Peasants Party to the regency today or even to seek audience with that body, left the Roumanian political situation hanging precariously in the balance and measurably increased the painful tension throughout the country.

It was believed that Maniu does not intend to approach the regency directly, but to deal with it through the secretariat of the Peasants Party.

Adeverul, the organ of former Premier Fofza Averescu, who is a strong supporter of Premier Bratianu, says that the Peasants Party has decided to boycott the government just as it did parliament, dealing with it only through the regency. The paper asserts that the peasants will try from now on to embarrass the government by every form of passive resistance such as non-payment of taxes and refusal to perform any public service.

Vienna, May 8 (A.P.).—The tenseness of the political situation in Roumania engendered by the demands of the Peasants Party that the government be turned over to a cabinet of their choosing, had not relaxed tonight. A strict censorship was being maintained while government officials telegraphed brief assurances that the country was "perfectly calm."

In contrast to these official statements were unconfirmed advices from a source in the capital that the government was preparing to deal with them here.

The present concern of business is to cast the beam out of its own eye; to purge itself of those corrupters of public servants whose moral turpitude is making the country a laughing stock.

Leaders Would End Session by May 26

Adjournment of Congress by May 26 was tentatively agreed upon yesterday.

Senator Curtis, of Kansas, Republican leader of the Senate, and Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, majority leader of the House, with Speaker Longworth and Representative Garner, of Texas, one of the Democratic spokesmen, conferred on the subject of closing day and studied the legislative programs before both houses.

The leaders seemed agreed that the most urgent business could be transacted in the sixteen legislative days which intervene between now and May 26. If it is found impossible to dispose of the programs by May 26 the adjournment date will be postponed until June 2.

James A. Reed and Ritchie Tell of Campaign Expenses

Missourian Spent Between $1,200 and $1,500, He Tells Senators—Governor Paid Out Nothing, He Says.

Trades in Delegates Denied.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.
Senator James A. Reed stepped out of his inquisitorial role yesterday and appeared as a witness before the Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures of presidential candidates.

Earlier in the day the committee went to Baltimore and in a ten-minute session in the Federal Building learned that Gov. Ritchie had spent no money and does not expect to be nominated.

The Missouri senator, submitting passively to the interrogations of his fellow senators, testified that he personally had spent some $1,200 or $1,500, mostly for traveling expenses, on his speech-making tours. Other expenditures could be ascertained from Edward S. Wilmore, of Kansas City, treasurer of his organization, and Samuel W. Fordyce, his manager, he said.

The organization was formed by his friends, he explained, adding that the only instructions he had given them concerning the raising of funds were that no contribution should be accepted from any person interested in legislation.

PUBLIC-BE-DAMNED POLICY IN BUSINESS STIRS E. B. PARKER

Commerce Chamber Told Pirates Who Flaunt Law Must Go.

WRATH OF PEOPLE RISING, HE ASSERTS

Declares Stockholders Must Oust Officers of Companies Guilty of Corruption.

An appeal to organized business to expel from within its ranks those "pirates" who flaunt the law, debase public servants in their quest for ill-gotten gain and whose motto is "The public be damned" was made yesterday by Judge Edwin B. Parker, chairman of the board of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in sounding the keynote at the opening of the chamber's sixteenth annual meeting, attended by 2,000 delegates.

Unless business purges itself of those who flaunt the law and abuse their power, he said, the public will turn loose thunderbolts of wrath which will inevitably bring legislative and governmental regulation of a business to a degree that will seriously hamper legitimate freedom of business initiative.

The recent conspicuous examples of individuals prominent in big business becoming intoxicated with power and involved in transactions tainted with fraud and corruption, violating every principle of sound business conduct, holding themselves above the law, are not peculiar to this day nor to the profession of business, but it is up to the profession itself to purge itself of those pirates whose acts stigmatize and bring business generally into disrepute.

Judge Parker said.

Call Upon Stockholders.
"Stockholders or corporations," Judge Parker said, "have the duty of publicly repudiating those who misrepresent them by amassing profits through corruption. Will not this chamber at this sixteenth annual meeting repudiate those whose ruthless methods tend to discredit all business, and reaffirm its allegiance to those sound principles of conduct upon which to endure all business must rest?"

The 2,000 delegates raised a deafening din in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce Building, where the meeting was held, with their applause for Judge Parker.

Much has been said and written of late of the betrayal of public trusts by those in high places, Judge Parker said.

"I have neither the time nor disposition to deal with them here. The present concern of business is to cast the beam out of its own eye; to purge itself of those corrupters of public servants whose moral turpitude is making the country a laughing stock."

Banning of U. S. Autos In Europe Is Talked

Berlin, May 8.—An European automobile industry blockade against American competition is a scheme mooted by the German motor car leaders, who are approaching their colleagues in France, Italy, England and Belgium.

A proposal to found an automobile customs in Europe, with prohibitive duties on American cars and ascribing to each European country its own type of automobiles, will be discussed at a conference scheduled to be held in Berlin in September and October.

JURORS FAIL TO AGREE IN CASE OF MRS. KNAPP

Retrial of New York State Secretary Is Fixed by Judge as May 21.

GRAND LARCENY CHARGED

Special to The Washington Post.

Albany, N. Y., May 8.—A formal disagreement was reported shortly before midnight tonight by the jury that tried Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state, on a charge of grand larceny of $2,875.06 of the 1925 State census funds. After discharging the jury, Supreme Court Justice Stephen Callaghan announced he was anxious to try the case again as soon as possible. He fixed May 21 as the retrial date. The jury was reported to have stood 9 to 3 for conviction.

The jury deliberated nearly nine and one-half hours. It reported a hopeless deadlock at 9:32 p. m. It had retired at 2:35 p. m. At 9:32 the jurors rang for court attendants to ask Justice Callaghan for instructions under the circumstances.

A few minutes before, Wilsie Knapp of Syracuse, stepson of Mrs. Knapp and brother of Clara Blanche Knapp, chief witness against her stepmother, made his first appearance in court since the trial started. He walked over to Mrs. Knapp, sitting before the judge's bench, and kissed her.

According to authentic reports, attorneys for the prosecution and defense, in conference with Justice Callaghan after the deadlock was reported, agreed the jury should strive for a verdict.

$18,000,000 Transfer Ends Armour Debt

Chicago, May 8 (A.P.).—Settlement of the debt of J. Ogden Armour to Armour & Co. packers, was completed today. The transaction involved the transfer of cash and securities to the amount of $18,000,000, which included $7,000,000 Sutter Basin Co. bonds, now in default.

Armour's widow and daughter, Mrs. John J. Mitchell, recently announced they were ready to draw on their personal fortunes to make good part of the indebtedness, and part of the estate of Armour's mother also was tied up in the liquidation proceedings.

R. V. WILLETT, INVALID, TAKES LIFE WITH GAS

Sisters Find Son of Former City Postmaster Lying on Floor of Kitchen.

Robert Van Horn Willett, 50 years old, son of former City Postmaster James Willett, committed suicide in his home at 507 Roxbury place northwest yesterday afternoon. Willett had been in ill health two years, and when his condition became worse several weeks ago he became very morose, members of his family told Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt. Dr. Nevitt issued a certificate of suicide.

Willet was found lying unconscious on the kitchen floor of his home by his sisters, Miss Clara Willett and Mrs. Catherine Wallace, who also lived at the Roxbury place address. A tube attached to the kitchen stove was in his mouth. Jets on the stove were open. The sisters threw open the windows in the kitchen and discovered that Willett was still alive.

One of the dead bandits was brought to Comonfort and exhibited in the plaza today. "El Potrero" is not the same ranch as one by the same name in the state of Vera Cruz. The Vera Cruz ranch is American owned.

CONTROL OF W. R. E. OBTAINED BY NORTH AMERICAN COMPANY

House Committee Told by Wilson of Stock Buying Recently.

WOULD ALSO RULE MERGED COMPANIES

Hearings Closed With Gibson, and Probably Others, Against Valuation Proposal.

A further acquisition of local traction stock by the North American Co. of New York, was revealed yesterday just before the House District committee ended its hearing on the resolution authorizing a traction merger here.

Harley P. Wilson, sponsor of the merger, and spokesman here of the North American Co., told the committee that this company now owns 30 1/2 per cent of the stock of the Washington Railway & Electric Co., and a "little over" 3 per cent of the stock of the Capital Traction Co.

Until Wilson made his statement yesterday, it was believed that the North American Co. owned 47 per cent of the stock of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. Wilson explained that the additional 3 1/2 per cent of the stock had been acquired since May 1.

In response to a question by Representative Gibson (Republican), of Vermont, Wilson admitted that the North American Co. would have effective control over the proposed consolidated company.

However, he insisted that this would be to the advantage of the city. The North American Co., he said, would not interfere with the management or policy of the merged company.

Two A. Inc. Merger.
When the hearing ended it appeared that Representative Gibson and Representative Gilbert (Democrat), Kentucky, had made up their minds to vote against the merger resolution advocates of the merger, however, believe that a majority of the members are in favor of the resolution. Chairman Zihlman had not decided yesterday when he would call the committee together and ask for a vote.

Wilson, dynamic, fast-thinking and fast-talking, declined yesterday to approve several modifications of the merger agreement suggested by Representative Gilbert.

Gilbert told Wilson that if the $50,000,000 rate base for ten years were removed from the agreement, and if striation of labor disputes and reduced fares for school children were provided.

9, MISSING, ARE FOUND DROWNED IN MOTOR

Louisiana Party's Automobile Plunged From Highway Into a Canal.

New Orleans, La., May 8 (A.P.).—Nine persons, all members of two families who have been missing since Sunday afternoon, when they left Hammond, La., after passing the day there on an outing, drowned when their automobile left the Hammond-New Orleans highway and ran into a canal bordering the roadway near Rudlock, La., 25 miles north of New Orleans.

Search for the missing persons was instituted by State police today. Police sent to search the highway for a trace of the automobile found the overturned automobile and the imprisoned bodies.

Divers brought to the scene were said to have brought up several of the bodies, according to reports reaching State police officials here. They were Peter Lacaus, his wife, Mary, two daughters, Marguerite, 7; Josephine, 6; and baby son, Vito; Lacaus's mother-in-law, Mrs. Sam Tumella; her daughter, Margaret, 18, and her 10-year-old son, and Michael Canizarro. Mrs. Tumella's father-in-law.

MAN, STRUCK IN QUARREL, DIES OF SKULL FRACTURE

Victim Expires Five Hours After Blow Without Naming Assailant.

John Carey, 64 years old, of 3238 P street northwest, died in Georgetown Hospital last night, five hours after he had been struck over the head by a colored assailant on the sidewalk in front of 1604 Thirtieth street northwest. Death was due to a fractured skull. His attacker escaped, but police are conducting a city-wide search for him.

According to witnesses of the altercation, Carey was walking down the street when the other man stopped him and engaged him in conversation. The conversation became heated and Carey fell to the sidewalk as the other man struck him over the head with his fist. His assailant ran down the street.

Carey, a carpenter, was taken to the hospital and policemen were stationed by his bedside in the hope that he would regain consciousness and reveal the name of his attacker.

The homicide squad under Lieut. Edward Kelly are continuing their search for a man who lives in Georgetown and who is widely known in police circles.

JUROR'S WINK CAUSES MISTRIAL IN DRY CASE

Flirtation With Blonde Defendant Brings Wager and Jury Dismissal.

A juror's wink at a pretty defendant in Police Court yesterday morning resulted in a mistrial in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Herbert, of 4511 Seventh street northwest, charged with illegal sale and possession.

According to witnesses, Mrs. Herbert was the recipient of the wink and smiles of a juror, who was apparently captivated by her striking blonde appearance. One of the court audience noted the smiles and wink and offered to wager any one around the courthouse that the Government would lose its case. There were no takers, but police officers reported the incident to Assistant United States Attorney David A. Hart, who promptly moved for a mistrial.

Judge Robert E. Mattingly heard the story of the flirtation and granted the motion, dismissing the jury. The juror, however, was not dismissed from further jury service.

Ensign Gets 60 Days After Riot in Panama

Panama, May 8 (A.P.).—Ensign Frank J. Donohue, a native of Milwaukee, attached to the cruiser Rochester, has been sentenced by a police magistrate to serve 60 days in the Panama jail following a fight. The story was told that Donohue had resisted the efforts of a policeman to make him pay a fare demanded by a "jitney" driver.

J. J. Wazencis, a sailor of the U. S. Navy boat Nitro, who was stabbed during the riot the argument precipitated, was alive today, but his case was believed hopeless. Others injured in the affair were said to be out of danger. Donohue was paroled pending a formal request for suspension of his sentence.

ROBINSON OUT AHEAD FOR SENATE NOMINATION

Incumbent, However, Lacks Total to Make Primary Effective; Count Delayed.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 9 (A. P.).—United States Senator James E. Watson went ahead of Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, when 1,167 of Indiana's 3,610 precincts had reported on the presidential preference vote in Tuesday's primary.

The vote was:
Watson, 60,366.
Hoover, 57,323.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 8 (A. P.).—The battle for the Republican preferential vote at today's Indiana primary developed into a close race between the two contestants, Herbert Hoover and United States Senator James E. Watson, as returns filtered in slowly tonight.

The Secretary of Commerce was still leading when 552 of the 3,610 precincts in the State had reported, but his majority had been reduced by returns from rural precincts.

Returns from 735 out of 3,610 precincts gave Watson, 38,219; Hoover, 38,500.

Three hundred and sixteen precincts gave Woollen, Democrat, 21,003.

Results in Senate Race.
A majority was in sight for United States Senator Arthur R. Robinson, who sought renomination on the Republican ticket. In 547 precincts Robinson had 28,866; Arthur L. Gilliom 16,866 and Solon J. Cerni 8,908.

Albert Stump, leader in the three-way race, or the Democratic senatorial nomination, also was on the way to a majority with 19,502 votes in 443 precincts. The votes of his opponents stood: Walter Myers, 10,756; L. William Curry, 3,120.

The gubernatorial races on both major party tickets failed to develop leaders who seemed likely to command a majority. Frederick E. Shortemeier had taken the lead among the ten Republican contestants for governor when 554 precincts had reported. He had 12

HEFLIN'S ATTACKS ON CATHOLICS BRING NEW SENATE ROW

Bruce, in Reply, Intimates Mind of Alabamian Has Become "Distempered."

GOV. SMITH IS CENTER OF EMBITTERED STORM

Good as Nominated Already,
Maryland Member Asserts,
Calling Him Genius.

(Associated Press.)

The candidacy of Gov. Smith of New York for the Democratic nomination engaged the Senate for three hours yesterday while Hefflin, of Alabama, and Bruce, of Maryland, both Democrats, in turn condemned and defended with equal ardor the governor's fitness for the Presidency.

Hefflin renewed his charge that Smith was "head of the Roman Catholic political machine," expressed doubt that he could discuss national issues and declared that he would never win the nomination.

Bruce maintained that Smith's religion had no relation to his candidacy, praised his "integrity and administrative genius," and said that he was "already as good as nominated."

The debate, which became acrimonious at various stages, followed a protracted speech by the Alabamian in which he frequently assailed Bruce.

This was in connection with the Marylander's previous objection to consideration of two Hefflin resolutions, one to forbid the Agriculture Department to issue cotton price predictions, and another to discontinue the traditional Navy practice of flying a chaplain's pennant above the American flag on Sundays to announce church services.

Debate Becomes Bitter.

"I think I know where some of these objections to my bills come from," said Hefflin. "There are Jesuits who sit in these galleries and who can control objections made on this floor."

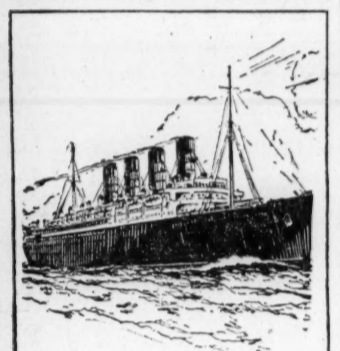

Bruce denied that any outsider had directed his action, saying he had wanted postponement of consideration of the cotton bill so that he might study it.

Taking notice of his arraignment by the Alabamian, Bruce said he thought it was a result of "his distempered mind, I am almost beginning to believe, deranged intellect."

The Marylander shouted that Hefflin had a "natural instinct for security" and had knowledge of no cross except the "fery cross of the Ku Klux Klan."

Recalls Roosevelt Prediction.

Hefflin charged that large amounts of money were being spent on Gov. Smith's behalf in the present campaign, and warned against allowing a Roman Catholic to sit in the White House. He said the Republicans were encouraging Smith support so that they might "go fishing" at election time.

REED AND RITCHIE TELL ABOUT PLANS AND FUNDS IN CAMPAIGN

tion should come his way, he did not expect it. He plans to do nothing between now and the convention to promote his candidacy, although, of course, if he has any friends at the convention he will not hesitate to ask them to help him.

Doesn't Expect Presidency.

Senator McMaster, of South Dakota, asked the Maryland Governor if he anticipated any funds from the Anti-Saloon League.

"No sir, I have no reason to expect support from that source," Ritchie replied.

"Would you expect any from forces opposed to prohibition?" the senator pursued.

"I had not thought about sources for campaign funds. I don't expect to be President and have not thought about raising funds for the campaign," Senator Reed suggested what those following the investigation expect when the leading candidates are heard, when he was asked by Senator Ritchie if he knew of any heavy expenditures in behalf of other candidates. He replied that he had heard rumors but did not want to repeat them.

"I can't give the committee any information that would lead to any disclosure that it can not get by questioning others just as you have questioned me," he said. Personally he had received only $250 in the way of contributions, he said, and could not recall from whom it came. He referred the committee to Milton K. Young, who headed his California delegate slate, for information on expenditures in the California primary.

Hoover Witness Today.

The first of the leading candidates will appear this morning in the person of Secretary of Commerce Hoover. Unusual interest will attach to what have been considered stock questions of the other candidates. That large expenditures have been made in his behalf is, of course, obvious from the widespread scope of his campaign and the gigantic publicity machine that has functioned for it.

Political gossip has it, too, that he has expressed a desire for secretary of the Navy to remain in his Cabinet in the event he is nominated and elected, while gossip also has it that Undersecretary of the Treasury Order L. Mills has ambitions for the Treasury post. Bascom C. Siemp, also allied with the Hoover cause, is credited with Cabinet ambitions.

and be sure of an election in their favor.

"Other things being equal," answered Bruce, "I would rather see a Catholic or a Jew go to the White House instead of a Protestant, to prove that there are no sectarian influences in the Government of this country."

He said that Elihu Root, Charles E. Hughes and Nicholas Murray Butler were among prominent Republicans who admired Smith's ability and recalled that President Roosevelt had once predicted election of a Catholic or Jew to the Presidency.

"Go," speed that day," he added.

In answering "Bruce," the Alabama senator criticized the Senate committee which had investigated and declared forged the Mexican documents that purported to show that Mexican money was to be paid to four United States senators.

Reed and Hale Intervene.

He charged that the Hearst publications had plotted against him in that instance "because Mrs. Hearst is a Catholic."

Hefflin asserted that some of the evidence in that investigation had been altered, and this was denied immediately by Senator Reed (Republican), of Pennsylvania, who was chairman of the investigating committee.

"Why didn't the committee denounce those people?" asked Hefflin. "The committee found the facts," replied Reed, "and left the denouncing to those who enjoy it."

Chairman Hale, of the naval committee, said that the church pennant flown on naval ships during religious services had been in use about a hundred years and was in no sense a copy of "the Pope's flag," as had been charged by Hefflin.

EIGHTY-EIGHT YEARS OF SERVICE

DRY CANDIDATE CHOICE OF SOUTH CAROLINIANS

Twenty-six of 46 County
Democratic Conventions
Denounce Avowed Wet.

SPEAKERS ASSAIL SMITH

Columbia, S. C., May 8 (A.P.).—South Carolina Democrats in county conventions called to name delegates to the State convention yesterday went on record generally as favoring a prohibition candidate for President and for dry planks in State and national platforms, returns here today showed.

While it was understood that Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, was referred to when mention was made of candidates who did not favor prohibition, only in Florence County were candidates required to state openly their stand on the candidacy of Gov. Smith. In Kershaw County a resolution condemning the candidacy of Senator James A. Reed because of his opposition to plans of the Wilson administration, was adopted.

In Sumter, Spartanburg and a few other counties the name of Gov. Smith was mentioned by speakers, but no resolutions adopted did not name him.

Fourteen of the 46 counties favored a change in party rules that would permit voters in the primary to support other than the primary nominee, but in other counties opposition was expressed to any change in the party rules.

Results of yesterday's meetings showed that 26 of the 46 counties officially went on record as opposing the nomination of any but an avowed dry.

Alten, Allendale, Marlboro, Beaufort, Florence and York-Gov. Smith was opposed by name.

Ten counties conducted their business without taking action on dry resolutions or resolutions affecting rule 32, while in the counties of Charleston, Barnwell, Charleston, Union and Calhoun resolutions instructing delegates to fight the candidacy of wet candidates, or substitute motions which either let the delegates go uninstructed to the convention or made a general demand for enforcement of laws.

REPUBLICANS WIN TWO TESTS IN TAX REDUCTION BATTLE

Club Dues Levy Is Restored
and Theater Ticket Exemption Raised, in Bill.

PARTY LINES BROKEN ON BOTH PROPOSALS

Western Independents Oppose Democrats Solidly; Corporation Item Up Today.

(Associated Press.)
Senate Republicans successfully defended their $200,000,000 tax reduction plan yesterday against the opening attack of Democrats for larger reductions
in line with their $325,000,000 program.
On almost straight party divisions,
the Republicans restored the 10 per cent
club dues tax to the revenue bill, which
the House had voted to cut in half, and which the Democrats sought first to cut in half and then to repeal. On another party line-up the proposal of Democrats to repeal the 10 per cent admission tax was rejected in favor of the Republican plan to increase the exemption from the tax from 75 cents to $3 and less.
The Republican victories, which were regarded as test votes on the Republican $200,000,000 plan and the Democratic $325,000,000 program, came soon
after it was learned that President Coolidge believes that unless Congress allows up on its appropriations, an increase rather than a reduction in taxes
will be necessary.

Hans President Notes.
The President regards as appalling
the number of proposals calling for special drains upon the Treasury. He has noted two items in particular, one calling for an increase in pay of postal employees and another for a reduction in postal rates. It was said both bills,
if enacted, would cost the Treasury

Dawes Tangles Up Senate By Failure to Vote in Tie

Intricate Parliamentary Web Woven After Vice President, for Second Time, Neglects Constitutional Mandate, Giving Him Right to Cast Ballot.

(Associated Press.)
For the second time since he has been in office Vice President Dawes
yesterday had opportunity to cast a vote to break a tie in the Senate and it caused him almost as much concern
as the first occasion, when he was absent and unable to vote.
Yesterday Mr. Dawes was present
but did not vote and because of that neglect he and the Senate got entangled in a parliamentary tangle which was unresolved only after a second vote was taken and the tie broken.
The first occasion of a tie vote facing
Mr. Dawes was on the roll call for confirmation of Charles Beecher Warren,
of Detroit, to be Attorney General.
The Vice President hastened in a taxicab
from his hotel in an effort to break
this tie, but he was too late and Mr.
Warren failed of confirmation.
A vote of 40 to 40 on almost straight party divisions resulted yesterday on the attempt of Democrats to repeal the 10 per cent admission tax. Mr. Dawes announced the vote and declared the amendment lost.
The Senate took up other amendments but about five minutes later
Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, moved to amend the bill so that he did not vote on the tie vote.
Mr. Dawes replied that he had been informed by the parliamentary clerk
that a tie vote must be an amendment was lost. He added, however, that if necessary he would have voted against the amendment.
Senator Reed said the Constitution
required that in tie votes the name of the Vice President should be called.
After a conference with the parliamentarian, Mr. Dawes agreed to this and he asked the clerk to call his name, which was done. But before he could answer

Senator Blaise (Democrat), South Carolina, protested that it was impossible to call the roll after the Senate
had transacted other business.
Then the Senate got to arguing as to whether the Vice President had to vote or not. Senator Reed insisted it was his duty under the Constitution to vote
on all tie votes, and Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, agreed. Senator
Dill, Democrat, Washington, said the Constitution did not make it mandatory for the Vice President to settle tie votes, and then Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, rose with a smile to "resent the statement that the Vice President has neglected to do his duty."
Again, Reed, of Pennsylvania, asked that Mr. Dawes vote, but Blaise objected. Then Fletcher, Florida, Democrat, moved reconsideration of the first vote. Mr. Dawes put this motion and it was agreed to, and Bingham, of Connecticut, upset the proceedings again
when he pointed out that one who had voted in the minority on a question
could not move reconsideration. Mr.
Dawes then asked the clerk to call the roll.
Tydings, of Maryland, argued that the first vote was illegal because the Vice President had not voted, and therefore the Senate could not reconsider it anyway, because there was nothing to reconsider.
Senator Smoot, of Utah, came to the rescue then, asking unanimous consent
that the Senate reconsider its first vote.
This was agreed to. On this roll call the Republicans were strengthened by the arrival of Senator Cutting, of New Mexico, who had not voted on the first
roll call. Senator McKenna, of Oregon,
the only Republican who lined up with the Democrats on the first roll call, also switched and this defeated the Democratic amendment, 42 to 39.

$58,000,000 in addition to the regular Postoffice deficit.
The $200,000,000 limitation on tax
reduction has been declared necessary
by the Treasury, which complained of the $200,000,000 measure passed by the House.
Democrats, however, insist, in view of past mistakes by the Treasury in its estimates, that a larger reduction can be made, pointing to the $400,000,000
estimated for this year by the administration.

Republicans have only a majority of one in the Senate, and yesterday on the first roll call on repeal of the admission tax, proposed by Senator Simmons,
of North Carolina, ranking Democrat
in the Senate, the vote was 40 to 40.
Because Vice President Dawes declared
the amendment lost without casting his vote, another roll call was taken and the Republicans defeated the amendment, 42 to 39.

Party Lines Broken.
Senator Bruce, of Maryland, was the only Democrat who bolted party ranks
on the two votes yesterday on the admission tax and club dues proposals.
Senator Steiwer (Republican), Oregon,
was the only member of his party who voted with the Democrats. Senator McNary, of Oregon, left the Republicans
to vote with the Democrats on the admission tax, but on the second roll call
he voted with the Republicans.

Western Republican Independents,
who have declared against any tax reduction, lined up solidly with their party in favor of the minimum reduction, and if the Republican ranks hold together, the measure will pass.

SINCLAIR OIL CONTEMPT CASE ARGUMENTS ENDED

Appeal From Jail Sentence Is Presented to Court by Opposing Lawyers.

BENCH QUESTIONS ROVER

(Associated Press.)
Argument on the appeal of Harry F.
Sinclair from his conviction for refusing to answer questions asked by the Senate Teapot Dome committee was concluded before the District of Columbia Court of Appeals yesterday with a claim by Sinclair's counsel that the questions were asked in an effort to aid Government counsel in lawsuits
and not to aid in preparing legislation.
Sinclair was sentenced to serve three months in jail and pay a $500 fine for refusing to answer four questions asked by the committee in March, 1924.
Leo A. Rover, district attorney, for the Government, contended that the questions were pertinent to the inquiry
conducted by the committee that Sinclair was legally summoned and duly sworn on December 4, 1923. Rover was interrupted several times by Justices Hatfield and Van Orsdel.
Once referring to the question of
when and where Sinclair met Albert B. Fall, Justice Hatfield inquired:
"If it had been brought out that they talked about bonds how would that have helped in determining legislation?"
The court showed similar interest in
the purpose of other questions.
Rover replied that the answer to the questions would enable Congress to better provide protection for its rights
in the public land.
Martin W. Littleton closed for Sinclair.

FRAUD CASES DETAILED AT VARE FUND HEARING

Former District Attorney of Philadelphia Tells of Prosecutions.

CRIMINALS AIDED, CLAIM

(Associated Press.)
Testifying before the Senate "slush fund" committee, Charles E. Fox, former district attorney for Philadelphia,
charged yesterday that Republican politicians of that city had often aided criminals in contesting prosecution.
Fox detailed fraud cases which followed the November, 1920, election,
and named William S. Vare—elected to the Senate at that time—as head of the Republican organization which,
he said, had interested on behalf of many who had faced charges and had
on other occasions retained counsel
for law breakers.
Cross-examined by Edward Kelly,
counsel for Vare, Fox said he had no
direct knowledge of the Republican organization and that he had run for office on a ticket opposed to it.
Called at this time because of a pending visit to Europe, Fox said that 1925 and 1926 had seen more convictions because of election frauds than
had the previous fourteen years.
These grew out of the Vare election, he said, and he was asked by William B. Wilson, another Senate committee member, a recount of the charge of the account. Fox said that fourteen bills of indictment, involving 36 defendants, of whom 10 were convicted, were returned in election-
fraud cases in 1925, and that 75 bills
of indictment involving 90 defendants, of which 21 were convicted, were returned in 1926.

inact, leaders are confident of holding
the $200,000,000 program in the bill.
The House voted to increase the exemption on the admission tax from 75 cents to tickets of $1 and less but the Senate's action yesterday removes the tax from all admissions of $3 and under. Approval also was given to increase to 25 per cent the levy on party fight admissions which the House voted. This increase in exemption was estimated to mean a loss of $17,000,000
in revenue.

Battle Over Theater Tax.
Democrats pointed out that complete repeal of the tax except on admissions to prize fights would cost the Government only $1,000,000 in revenue annually. Senator Smoot, chairman of the finance committee and leader of the Republican forces, said he favored the $3 exemption to aid the spoken
drama, but he said there was no reason why the tax should not apply on tickets of more than $3, because it would affect only those going to the grand opera and similar performances.
Senator Simmons fought hard for both complete repeal of the admission
tax and retention of the House reduction of 5 per cent in the levy on club dues. Senator Barkley (Democrat), of Kentucky, moved to repeal the club
dues tax after the Senate had voted to increase the rate from 5 to 10 per cent. His motion was lost, 40 to 36.
The increase from 5 to 10 per cent
was voted, 38 to 35.

The Senate expects today to act on the other rate provisions of the bill,
with the fight centering on the corporation tax which the Republicans would cut from 13 1/2 to 12 1/2 per cent.
Democrats will seek an 11 per cent rate
and, if defeated on that, an 11 1/2 per cent rate, as voted by the House.

FARM LEADERS FIGHT
ITEM IN HAUGEN BILL
Midwesterners Ask Elimination of What They Declare Is "Slush Fund."

Des Moines, Iowa, May 8 (A.P.)—A demand that a "$200,000 slush fund
provision" of the McNary-Haugen bill
be eliminated is contained in telegrams sent today to Representative G. N.
Haugen, of Iowa, and Senator Arthur
C. Capper, of Kansas, by a group of farm leaders from eight Middle Western States, meeting here. The messages were signed Milo Reno, president of the Iowa Farmers Union, and Moines: M. W. Thatcher, St. Paul, and
C. E. Brasted, Kansas City, Montana,
North Dakota, South Dakota, Minn-
nesota, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas are represented at the meeting.
"We feel the message stated, 'that the possibilities for evil are contained in this provision, and the proposed $200,000 fund can be used either to destroy or create an organization that any administration might desire or disapprove.'"
Reno stated his belief that the fund
will be dissipated in bringing to life
"dead wheat pools which have never contributed anything to cooperative marketing."

Weman Sues Railroad Lines.
The Pullman Co. and the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. were sued jointly yesterday in Circuit Court for $10,000
damages for alleged personal injuries
by Helen Goldammer. Through Attorneys Newmyer & King the plaintiff says that on December 17, 1927, she was injured while alighting from a Pennsylvania Pullman at the Union Station
here.

Day in Congress
SENATE.
Met at noon and recessed at 5:10 to meet at 8 for a night session.
Continued consideration of the tax reduction bill, voting to exempt from the 10 per cent admission tax all tickets of $3 and less.
Passed the bill authorizing the award of gold medals to the six men who made the first transatlantic flight in the NC-4.
Charles E. Fox, former district attorney of Philadelphia, charged before the slush funds committee that Republican politicians in Philadelphia
had often aided criminals.
Campaign funds committee questioned Gov. Ritchie of Maryland and Senator Reed (Democrat), of Missouri.
Senator Heflin (Democrat), of Alabama, again assailed Gov. Smith of New York and the "Roman Catholic political machine" Senator Bruce (Democrat), of Maryland, took Heflin
to task for his attack.
Senator Tydings (Democrat), of Maryland, introduced a bill directing the Federal Trade Commission to investigate chain store organizations.

HOUSE.
Met at noon and adjourned at 5:10
to meet at noon today.
Approved the conference report on the Mississippi flood control bill and sent it to the Senate.
Postoffice committee approved the Kelly bill to provide increased penalties
for mail robbers.
District committee concluded its hearing on the traction merger resolution.

ORDER YOUR WINTER'S SUPPLY OF ANTHRACITE COAL TODAY

*Your dealer will actually pay
you for the storage space in your coal bin.*

IF everyone waited until cold
weather to order the winter's supply of Anthracite coal, there would be a lot of cold houses and much discomfort.

With the best intentions in the world, coal dealers couldn't store
enough Anthracite to take care of everybody's order at the same time.

That's why the reliable Anthracite dealer offers to pay you rent for your coal bin during the spring and summer months. He does this by reducing his prices during the summer months and giving you the benefit of this saving.

Fill your coal bin now with good clean CERT-I-FIDE Anthracite coal,
and forget that winter is coming.

Forty-eight per cent of the people who use Anthracite buy it early,
and in taking advantage of the low prices make money. They really rent their bins for the summer to the coal dealer.

And, if you buy your Anthracite coal now, you enjoy many advantages.

Cheaper coal, of course.

And better coal, because it comes
to you in the same fine condition
it leaves the mines, undamaged by snow and ice.

You will be independent of winter
transportation troubles.

Your Anthracite coal dealer can give you 100 per cent service because he is not rushed.

*We suggest that you consult your Anthracite dealer now about your winter's supply of coal.
Ask him if you are using the correct size of Anthracite for economical and efficient heating.*

BEGIN AT NIGHT TO CLEAR AND FRESHEN SKIN

Cleanse it of powder, rouge and dirt with precious beauty oils
embodied in this gentle soap

NEVER let powder or rouge, or
the day's accumulation of dirt, clog the pores over night.
That will ruin the loveliest skin.
Instead remove them with Palmolive—the soap made from the priceless beauty oils of palm and olive for the sole purpose of protecting lovely skin.
These gentle oils penetrate and
cleanse like nothing else will do.
Here is how to use them to keep skins gloriously fresh, soft and young looking. It is the world's most famous treatment in being naturally lovely. Do this, without fail, night and morning.
First massage the face gently
with Palmolive, using both hands.
Let its balmy olive and palm oils
enter and cleanse the pores. Rise

with warm water; then with cold.
Dry by patting, not by rubbing. If skin is dry, apply cold cream.
Today get Palmolive—10c a cake, everywhere. The Palmolive-Peet Company, Chicago, Ill.

WRC WILL BROADCAST AMERICAN INDIAN OPERA

National Company to Give Tabloid Version of Cad-man Composition.

MOTHER'S DAY REMINDER

The National Grand Opera Company will present a tabloid version of Cadman's American Indian opera, "Shane-wis," through WRC at 9:30 o'clock tonight. "Shane-wis," which means "the robin woman," is an American opera in two acts. It was first performed at the Metropolitan Opera House in March, 1918, and later, in 1924 at the Denver Civic Auditorium.

Caroline Andrews, a popular broadcasting artist, is scheduled to sing through WRC at 8:30 o'clock this evening. Among her numbers will be "Chamaine," "Summer" and "Prima's 'Glennina Mia'."

Milton Schwartz, violinist, and Dora Minovich, pianist, will feature the Kitt hour of music, scheduled to go on the air via WRC at 6 o'clock this evening. An excerpt from Sidney Jones' "Geisha," an old operatic favorite, will be played during the hour of slumber music which will be broadcast through WRC at 10 o'clock this evening.

"Geisha" is a fantastic tale of old Japan told in music, and was one of the pioneers of musical comedy. A gavotte by Hans Sitt; "Southern Roses," a Strauss waltz; the Berceuse from Godard's "Jocelyn," and Dvorak's "Humoresque" will be included in the program.

Congressman Irving Chapman, of Kentucky, will speak from station WFFF at 8:30 o'clock tonight. The morning session of the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce will again be put on the air by station WMAL at 9:30 o'clock. The speakers will be Silas H. Strawn, president of the American Bar Association; Roy Johnson, agriculturist, and Benjamin Loring.

Both morning and afternoon sessions will be broadcast by WMAL tomorrow. The banquet of the Columbia Federation of Churches, which will be held at the Philco hotel which will be broadcast through KDKA and other blue net stations at 8 o'clock.

Josef Lhevinne, Russian pianist, will be heard in a radio recital at 7:30 o'clock over WJZ's network, including KDKA. Mme. Rosina Lhevinne will also be heard during the program in several two-piano selections played with her husband. Chopin, Mendelssohn, Liszt, Saint-Saens and Infanta will be among the composers represented. Jessica Dragonette and Charles Robinson will sing dual roles in "Rob Roy," a light opera by Reginald de Koven, with Norman Joffe in the title role. In the Philco hour which will be broadcast through KDKA and other blue net stations at 8 o'clock.

Read Bill to Be Considered.
The Swanson-Moore bill authorizing a $4,500,000 memorial boulevard from the Arlington Memorial Bridge to Mt. Vernon will be taken up in the House May 21, it was announced yesterday. The bill already has passed the Senate.

THE SPOTLIGHT

By JOHN J. DALY

Ray Henderson, in charge of publicity for Winthrop Ames—the man who has a penchant for the Gilbert and Sullivan operas, and who lately starred George Arliss in "The Merchant of Venice"—is in town ahead of Leslie Howard who comes to the Belasco Theater next week in "Escape," by John Galsworthy. The play was booked here for this week, but business in Philadelphia happened to be so good that Washington was held in abeyance. However, better late than never, so the saying goes. When "Escape" first made its appearance in London, almost two years ago, John Galsworthy said it was the last he would write. Mr. Henderson now corrects that impression. He says: "It is typical of Galsworthy that he never took the trouble to contradict what was only the plaint of a dramatist during the pains of a production period. It was not until January of this year that Galsworthy, replying to a letter from Winthrop Ames, explained he had no intention of quitting the theater, that he usually says his current play, what ever it is, is the last he will write."

More, then, anon.

DeWolfe Hopper, the comedian, is all set for a summer run in Washington. With his own comic opera company he is scheduled to unfurl the flag at Poli's Theater the week of May 21 and remain there as long as possible. This announcement was made yesterday by T. D. Bonnevill, manager of Poli's, who rushes about town with the news that the old stager, DeWolfe, has organized a company equally as fine as that which won favor here four summers ago. How time flies!

The opening attraction of the DeWolfe Hopper comic opera company will be "The Mikado." Hopper usually plays Pooch Bah in that classic. Next on the bill will be "The Chocolate Soldier," but just what role Mr. Hopper will essay in this delightful little comedy set to music—the book was taken from George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man"—no one seems to know; not even Mr. Hopper. He may play the Captain of the Guards; probably will. At any rate, the Bonnevill forces at Poli's are getting ready for a heavy summer season.

Among some of the successes scheduled for revival here this summer, under the Hopper auspices, are "Pinafore," "Rip Van Winkle," "The Prince of Pilsen," "The Merry Widow" and perhaps "The Student Prince," in which the comedian was last seen in Washington.

Fairfax Burgher, who is playing the part of Varrus in "The Road to Rome" at Poli's, spent yesterday afternoon at Bolling Field inspecting Lindbergh's plane, the Spirit of St. Louis. He went in company with Mr. Paul Croarkin, with whom he flew in Texas during the war. They were both stationed there in the United States Air Service. Mr. Burgher is still an ardent aviation enthusiast. Next to the theater he considers his chief hobby. Burgher received his first training in flying at Princeton University, where he attended college before entering the flying game. In addition to flying and acting Mr. Burgher is a skilled sleight-of-hand artist, having studied under a number of the most prominent professionals. He is a member of the Society of American Magicians, of which the late Harry Houdini was president. During his period of Army training Burgher organized a vaudeville company which toured the principal cities of Texas. Sufficient money was raised with which to build a handsome swimming pool at the flying field. In this company Burgher performed some of his most Arrangements for the affair were completed yesterday by the following committee: Mrs. George Vocum, chairman; Mrs. Louis W. Hart, Mr. Gerald Duffey, Mr. Walter F. Dempsey, Mr. A. L. Lansdale, Mr. G. Why not buy a used PACKARD

most of the new car mileage
all of the new car distinction
part of the new car cost

PACKARD cars are built to provide many years of luxurious, care-free transportation. Yet some owners—graduating from the Six to the Eight, or desiring a different model—turn in their cars at ten to twenty thousand miles.

Our used Packards offer literally MOST of the new car mileage.

Packard cars, whether built this year, last year or the year before, are characteristically Packard in line. In appearance they change but little from year to year—retain always their fundamental design.

Our used Packards provide admittedly ALL of the new car distinction.

Packard cars when taken as part payment for new models are bought at their fair market value and offered for resale on a one-price and no-profit basis. Our profits are made on new cars—we accept and turn over the used car as cash.

Our used Packards, therefore, make Packard transportation available at but a PART of the new car cost.

Why not inspect our used car showings today? They offer Packard beauty, comfort and distinction, fine-car mileage and performance at costs no higher than for lesser cars.

A good Packard used car is a better buy at the same money than many a lower priced car when new—and costs no more to run.

Our used cars, like our new cars, may be bought on a monthly payment plan.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES McDONALD
Character.

DEAR Miss McDonald: I have just finished reading the three letters from young people in today's paper. I felt so bad about those people I could cry. Why aren't we taught when we are young enough to understand, I mean before we come to such situations, like Blue Eyes. What will become of her?

I'm not a mother, Miss McDonald. I'm only engaged to be married, but I'm going to have children; as many as circumstances allow and I want to study about young people for the rest of my life—for I too have made a serious mistake.

I was 17 when I met the man I love. We loved each other from the very first, but for a year when I went with him he did get "fresh" but I couldn't help forgiving him and loved him. Many a night I cried about him for about two years. He never went out with any one all that time. I came home and we made the mistake that changes everything.

We can't get married for a year or two. He says he still cares for me, but just can't get married yet and I can't give him up and I worry greatly what I shall do. I do wish you could give me some advice.

I know so many couples who have been going together for a great many years, what about them?

My sweetheart and I often talked it over, wondering if our children under the same circumstances would make the same mistake. We both agreed that we must keep our children from doing the thing we are doing.

I hope you understand me and please write me about our children. I have learned a good deal from your articles.

VERA.
Yea, only one thing can make your children clean and upright—and that is—character; give them that and you have given them a clean bill of health through life.

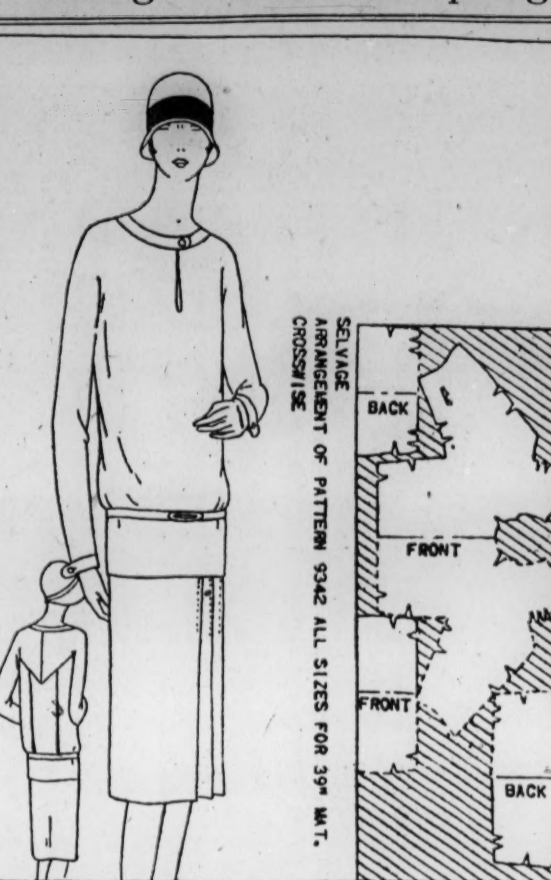

But character is inherited—a sort of habit inheritance. And so parents can only give as they themselves possess. If you and this man you have selected to father your children are too weak in character yourselves to meet life and its necessities, how can you expect what offspring may be so unhappy as to be victims of your union?

Do you really want to insure your children against the laxity you are both showing? If so, begin now to practice habits of strength rather than weakness. You have no earthly right to impose on other lovers your own infirmity. You are exceptionally weak-fibred—both of you. And your lover is reasoning as every man in his position has reasoned since time began when he questions the quality of your children's resistance. He is questioning your qualification for motherhood. And every man who ever yet has caused a girl to step aside from the proper path has done the same thing. Men will always do it. That is why they are not "marry" men and then for two years—and then for ten years. They do not want to marry the girl who has proven unequal to the task of maintaining the honor of a woman. They are afraid of her weakness. They see the picture of a daughter in disgrace. Their instinct tells them they have no morality to bequeath, yet they want their children to be strong—not weak. They pick strong-willed women for wives, because nature makes them—against their will.

The single standard is a stupid one, but it is better than no standard at all. If you want this man to marry you show him that hidden in you some-where is some will power—some character. He probably has no thought of marriage in his mind. You proved an easy victim from the start—and will probably be the victim in the end.

Protect your children by protecting yourself. And protect yourself with character.

Making a Blouse for Spring

DEAR VOGUE: I seldom cut out any garment, though I am good at sewing and finishing. I would like to make a pretty crepe de chine blouse, however, and I would appreciate advice about cutting it. I prefer a sleeve cut in one piece with the blouse.

Dear J. N.: The first thing to do, after choosing a pattern, is to make sure that you understand the design. Often there are alternate necklines, collars or trimmings, which mean that some of the pieces may be laid aside or cut out. The design shown in the sketch may be made with three little tabs at the front, as an alternate. If you do not wish these, simply discard the extra pieces. The chart shows how simple to cut the blouse is. The front, the sleeves and the back yoke are all cut in one piece on the cross of the goods, so that there is no piecing. It is very important to work on a flat cutting surface, solid and large, so that no fabric hangs over the edge. Crepe de chine is given to slipping about, and you should use plenty of pins in placing the pattern. Cut with the shears sliding along the table, lifting the fabric as little as possible. As you are good at finishing, you probably know how important it is not to stretch the fabric on curved or bias edges. Bust the center-back seam of the yoke immediately after cutting and run a basting thread around the neckline.

From April to December. SIXTY-FIVE years ago on a hot summer afternoon three little girls sat on a bank by an English river. Under the only bit of shade around, which happened to be a newly made hayrick. A young Oxford mathematical instructor was with them, and she felt herself slipping.

I have suggested should become a matter of habit, used, if not every day, at least three times a week.

The hands should be scrubbed well after the day's work with heavy suds of pure castile soap and care should be taken that every trace of grime is removed. The hands, after they are scrubbed, should be rinsed well in warm water, then in cold. The water should be soft. When the hands have been thoroughly dried, a good cold cream should be massaged into them, the cream being worked up toward the finger tips. Each finger should be given the benefit of a massage that progresses from the base of the finger up toward the tip, pressing the finger tip into a point.

Following the massage all the cold cream should be removed and the attention given to the nails. These should be shaped with the file, not too long. If they still look dirty, the skin beneath the nails should be examined. This easily becomes roughened, often actually broken. A bit of absorbent cotton should be wrapped around an orange-wood stick and a little cold cream worked in beneath the nails before retiring. In the morning the nails may be scrubbed well. Peroxide or lemon juice may be used as an aid in removing the stains. Another light application of cold cream will do no harm.

The cleansing treatment and the massage should be repeated every evening for at least two weeks. Even when the fingers seem to have come back to their natural condition, the treatment should be continued. I have suggested should become a matter of habit, used, if not every day, at least three times a week.

"Tell us a story," and so he began one. It was not finished that afternoon. Eventually the story covered 92 sheets of paper and was illustrated by the teacher's own drawings. He took a small picture of one of the little girls—her name was Alice—and pasted it on the final page. On the first page he wrote in illuminated letters, "A Christmas Gift to a Dear Child in Memory of a Summer Day." And he gave it to the little girl for Christmas.

Sixty-five years pass. The little girl now lives alone, widowed, poor and childless. Her two sons were killed in the World War. She feels herself slipping. A Christmas story she has written for her mother who decided things for her. She shrank until forced and every new task held terror. Obviously now she procrastinates.

Other fellows get ahead in the world and I don't. How about "opportunity knocking once on every man's door," as the saying goes?

"Answer—Youth and man make their own opportunities. Opportunity knocks often at the door of the person with energy, determination and ability. I don't believe it ever knocks knowingly at any other door.

Cottontails or Fur Coats? All the boys in my neighborhood go hunting and the hills are full of cottontails. I love wild life better than wild women. Is it fair that my parents will not let me shoot?

Answer—If you were my boy you would hunt if you wished. I would rather have you chasing cottontails than rabbit fur coats.

Six Days Remain to Enter $1,000 Guest Title Contest

Readers of The Post have six more days in which to submit title suggestions in the Edgar A. Guest title contest. The contest, which opened May 1, will close at midnight May 15, and all titles must be mailed by that time if they are to be considered in the local Post competition and the national contest. If you have not already done so send in your suggestion at once.

The Post is offering five prizes: First, $10 in cash; second, four de luxe volumes of Guest poetry bound in red morocco; third, fourth and fifth, individual volumes of Guest poetry, all autographed by the author.

One thousand dollars is the prize offered in the national contest. By submitting a title suggestion in The Post contest you automatically become a contestant for the $1,000 national award.

The title finally selected will be used on Mr. Guest's new book, which will contain poems selected from those published in The Post during the past year.

Eight other volumes of verse have been published by Mr. Guest. Study these to indicate the kind of title the new book should have. The names of the books previously published are "The Path to Home," "A Heap of Poems," "The Passing," "The Throng," "The Light of Faith," "When Day Is Done," "Poems of Patriotism" and "Rhymes of Childhood."

Note the scope and appeal of these titles. Now model yours after them and mail it in. It may be the one chosen for Guest's new book, which will be published August 20, the poet's forty-seventh birthday. Mail your title to Edgar A. Guest Title Contest Editor, care of The Post.

Rules of the Contest

1. The contest opens May 1 and closes at midnight, May 15, 1928.

2. The object is to suggest a title for a new book of verse by Edgar A. Guest. This title must be of four words, or less. It must be accompanied by a letter of 50 words or less, setting forth your reasons for suggesting the title.

3. You may send in any number of titles, but each one must be on a separate coupon or separate sheet of paper, signed, dated and addressed to the Edgar A. Guest Title Contest Editor, The Post. Each must be accompanied by a letter.

4. Should two or more persons suggest the title judged best, and their letters be judged of equal merit each will be awarded the full amount of the prize offered.

5. Each contestant agrees to abide by the final decision of the national judges, of whom there shall be three in number.

will be published August 20, the poet's forty-seventh birthday. Mail your title to Edgar A. Guest Title Contest Editor, care of The Post.

Mr. Work's Pointer On Auction Bridge

WHEN A Dealer has bid No Trump, the next player may find himself with sufficient strength in one suit, or divided between two, to warrant the expectation of saving game if the No Trump is played; or of making his contract if he bid two of his best suits, unless it be of enormous length or supported by sufficient side strength to make game probable; and similarly he should pass with a five-card or six-card King-Queen-Jack suit and one quick re-entry.

On the other hand, in these days of light No Trumpers, it is not impossible that Second Hand has a suit of such length and strength that a bid, especially if it be a Major, may mean game if partner can take a couple of tricks. So when a probability of game looms up, Second Hand should bid or perhaps double informatively; there are many hands which have strength enough for a bid but not enough for a double, and others which have strength enough for a double but not length enough for a bid. Therefore, whether to bid, double or pass is a question for which it is difficult to furnish any general answer. It must be left largely to the judgment of the player who, in reaching his determination, should realize that ten mistakes are made by bidding a suit Second Hand over a No Trump, to every one that is made by passing; and that doubles should not be made unless the doubling hand contains at least five high cards, that probably will take tricks.

This subject will be continued tomorrow.

TIGERS, IN SLUGFEST, FROM NATIONALS, 12-2; LEADING PROS OF U. S. QUALIFY IN BRITISH OPEN

Argentinian Medalist in Tourney

Jurado's 69 Gains Him Honor; Mehlhorn Slows Down.

Nabholz, Ill, Is Only U. S. Pro to Fail to Survive Trials.

SANDWICH, England, May 8 (A.P.).—Six North American professionals and two amateurs qualified today for the British open golf championship, but the honors of the day went to South American. Jose Jurado, Buenos Aires professional, compiled a sensational 69 on the Royal St. George Course to add to his 75 over Prince's yesterday and led the field with 144 for the two days' qualifying play.

The players from the United States had no 69's in their bags, but a majority slipped quietly inside the select circle of 110 to continue the quest for the title. Scores of 162 were needed to get under the wire with the low hundred and ties. Larry Nabholz was the only pro to falter. The former Cleveland, who has been sick throughout the play, required 164, and was forced to join the gallery with Joshua Crane and Silas M. Newton, Boston and New York amateurs, who ventured into the 90's for a round and could not find the outside looking in. Crane needed 184 and Newton 169.

Jim Barnes and Gene Sarazen went for low scoring honors among the representatives of the United States, with 156 for the 36 holes.

Walter Hagen had 153; Bill Mehlhorn, who led the field after the first day, 151; Tommy Armour, the United States open champion, 156, and Bob Stupp, Chicago pro, 161.

Armour was uneasy with his woods but played his irons with characteristic punch and fine direction. At the second, his tee shot went into the rough and he took three putts for a 6. On the twelfth he took three to reach the green and then three putts to sink the ball. On the sixteenth he pulled his drive into the rough and took three to reach the green for his third 6.

Johnny McHugh, San Francisco, was the second amateur in the qualifying list, with 157. T. A. Torrance, the Scotsman, leading with 153. Douglas Grant, native of the United States but now living in London, qualified with 160.

J. H. Taylor, who has won the open five times since 1894, tied once and finished second four times, failed to qualify, taking 163. Great Britain's

BROWN GETS CHANCE AT TIGERS

According to some of the experts traveling with the Tigers, outfielder Paul Eastering is not the hitter they claim to be. They claim that he is getting three homers in as many successive days has done him more harm than good in that it gave him the idea that he was another Babe Ruth and, as a result, he is swinging so hard while at bat that his timing is affected. Eastering was able to get but one of the Tigers' seventeen hits yesterday.

Infielder Grant Gillis, with his face battered and bruised and his under-vestive tape, showed up at the Griffith Stadium yesterday. He wanted to watch the game from the bench, but because of the cold and damp weather, he was ordered to remain in the locker room.

Arrangements are being made for an exhibition game to be staged here between the Nationals and Walter Johnson's Newark Bears. Difficulty is being experienced in finding a date suitable to both clubs.

At this writing, it looks as though the game will not be played until August 8, an open date for Washington. The Bears are booked to play on that date, but may move this game forward as part of a doubleheader on August 7, so as to let Washington fans get a look at the "Old Master" and his charges.

Joe Judge was in a hitting mood yesterday, getting three of the Nats' ten safeties.

Manager Harris planned to pack his injured finger in ice last night in the hope of being able to get back in the line-up this afternoon. It is hardly likely, however, that he will be ready until tomorrow.

Pat Ballinger played a bang-up game at third for the Harbinger yesterday. He accepted seven chances without a bobbie and started one of the Nats three double plays. In the seventh, he made a game effort to drag down Fothergill's foul, almost falling over the rail of one of the boxes back of third. He cracked out one safety.

Infielder Bob Reeves will be allowed to put on a uniform today for the first time since he was injured some time ago. This does not mean anything except that the "Rambling Wreck from Georgia Tech" is improving rapidly. He will not be in shape to play or even resume practice for three or four more days.

A fashion shop, which is offering a suit of clothes for every Washington home run in the Griffith Stadium, evidently is trying to save money on the paint job on the sign in center listing the names of the clouters. One letter was saved when "Goose" was listed instead of Goslin, while three more were saved yesterday when "Alystine" appeared instead of Van Alstyne.

Terminal "Y" Team And Auth Seniors Play

The Auth Seniors and the Terminal Y. M. C. A. team will play practice game today at 8 o'clock on the Terminal diamond. The Auth senior and unlimited players will report Thursday and Friday on Diamond No. 10 for practice at 8 o'clock.

BRUDT NINE MEETS.
The Brudt Nine will hold an important meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of W. V. Powell, 100 C street.

Wonders of Chemistry.
III. MORE "TRICKS."

WHEN I was about six years old I did not know what the word "chemistry" meant, but I used to do a little "chemical" trick which some of me had taught me.

The trick was this: In a glass of water I would put a spoonful or two of vinegar, and a little sugar. The water would add a little baking soda, and would stir. The mixture would begin to bubble and foam I had to hurry and drink it, else it would overflow the glass.

The reason for the bubbling was the union of the acid of the vinegar with the soda. As a matter of fact, the name "soda water" came from the old-time drink which was made with the help of soda. If a few spoonfuls of a certain kind of acid are placed in a dish, the acid will not dry up. Just the other thing will happen. The acid will seem to increase. Let it stay long enough, and the acid may overflow from the dish. The reason for this is that the acid takes water out of the air. The air always has a little water in it—some times a good deal.

The same kind of acid, when poured into a glass half full of water, will make the water very hot. In fact the glass may become so hot that you will have to set it on a cloth. I do not advise any boy or girl to play with acids. They often are dangerous. Perhaps you will be able to perform these tricks when you study chemistry at high school or college. There would be no harm, however, in trying the vinegar-and-soda trick.

It is a strange fact that gases can combine and form liquids. Water is made up of two gases, hydrogen and oxygen. Gases can also unite and form solids.

Water flowing under the ground often drips through the ceiling of a cave. If it carries lime—as it is likely to do—the water may drop leaving a bit of lime sticking to the ceiling. In time the bits of lime form "stalactites," which look a good deal like icicles.

Tomorrow—Water.

The Sportsman

By DOROTHY E. GREENE.

ALTHOUGH Gales School lost the Plaza Division Junior championship of the Elementary School Scholastic League yesterday to Peabody School players in the final match of the series, the two teams which represented the school in the division made a remarkably brilliant record, finishing in runner-up position in both junior and senior circuits.

Peabody triumphed, 9-4, in yesterday's match and the senior Gales combination bowed to the Arthur Team in the senior finals earlier in the week. Other interesting games played yesterday included the Garfield Division match, in which Van Ness defeated Wallach, 14-7, and Seaton's victory over Ludlow in Plaza Division.

30 RACKETERS ENTER.
Plans for the annual playground open elimination singles tennis tournament are under way, according to Miss Maude N. Parker, of the Municipal Playground Department, who states that approximately 50 racketers from the various grounds will compete in the event this season.

The open tourney is run in addition to the city playground singles and doubles tournaments, which take place in July, and will precede them both. First round matches will open the last week in May on the Bloomingdale Playground Courts and girls can enter their names at their home grounds after May 19, according to Miss Parker.

Bond's Unlimited Nine And Hiser Stars Play

Hiser's All Stars and Bonds will clash Sunday in what promises to be a good game at Riverdale Park at 3 o'clock.

For the Hyattsville team Maroney will be the most likely pitching choice with Belt doing the receiving. Bonds will name their pitcher later.

G. W. Tennis Team Beats Generals, 6 to 1

George Washington University's Tennis Team outclassed the netmen of Washington and Lee yesterday on the local courts, winning six of the seven matches. Donn, the Generals' lone winner, won by default, when Slicker was forced to quit the match with the set even. Bob Considine, the G. W. No. 1 player, defeated Lane, of W. and L., 6-3, 6-2.

SINGLES.—Considine (G. W.) defeated Lane (W. and L.), 6-3, 6-2. Phil (W. and L.) defeated Slicker (G. W.), 6-4, 6-3. Stung (G. W.) defeated Bowler (W. and L.), 6-4, 6-3. Aronowsky (G. W.) defeated Parker (W. and L.), 6-4, 6-3.

DOUBLES.—Considine and Phillips (G. W.) defeated Lane and Slicker (W. and L.), 6-3, 6-2. Stung and Aronowsky (G. W.) defeated Bowler and Bowler (W. and L.), 6-4, 6-3.

St. Alban's Winner Over G. U. Prep, 5-3

The St. Alban's Baseball Team defeated Georgetown Prep at Garrett Park yesterday afternoon, 5 to 3. Bowles, who pitched for the winners allowed only two hits and struck out thirteen men.

At the end of the third inning Georgetown was enjoying a 2-0 lead, but St. Alban's scored three runs in the fourth and one more in the sixth, while the preps were held to a lone run in the last inning. Thompson started at bat for the winners.
